Special Guest Speaker

Karen Jobes

New Testament teacher & public speaker

From 2005–2015 she held the Gerald F. Hawthorne Professor of New Testament and Exegesis at Wheaton College and Graduate School.

Karen taught Greek language courses in the department of Foreign Languages and courses in New Testament exegesis on the graduate faculty in the department of Biblical & Theological Studies.

Her teaching career began in 1990 as an adjunct professor at Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. The Septuagint has been a major focus of her research interests, especially as a literary and theological background for New Testament exegesis. She is a fellow of the Institute for Biblical Research, a member of the Evangelical Theological Society, and the Society for Biblical Literature.
